OUTLINES.

W. J. Bryan was given enthusiastic acclaim during his few hours stay in Denver, Colo., last night by Democratic clubs from all parts of Colorado. He delivered a keynote speech on "Let There be Light"——Candidate Taft made twelve speeches yesterday on his tour through Tennessee and South Carolina and met with hearty responses. He will reach Salisbury this morning, will speech in Greesboro today and in Richmond tonight——The hearing of the suit of John Armstrong Chanler, in Charlottesville, Va., who alleges that his fortune has been confisticated in the New York courts, consumed the entire session yesterday——As the result of forest fires in Michigan, 15 people lost their lives in the burning of a relief train, carrying the fleeing inhabitants from the village of Metz ——G. M. Mallory, an inventor of Chattanooga, Tenn., made the first aerial flight in the South in his aeroplane yesterday. He fell after descending 39 feet, and escaped with slight injury.——Greensboro's centennial closed yesterday with a monster civic and military parade——The Virgina two-cent passenger rate case is being argued in the federal Supreme Court——The cruiser North Carolina has passed her final inspection and declared satisfactory —— A big reception will be given Bryan in New York city on October 26th, the day on which he will speak there——Chairman Mack says Bryan's election is sure, but the fight must be kept up until election day. He claims New York, Indiana and Ohio——At Omaha Thursday night on a Union Pacific train, papers were served on Hearst in Governor Haskell's libel suit for $600,000. The sheriff had to break into the stateroom and then found Hearst secreted in the locked room——The chief witness in the trial yesterday of Chas. W. Morse for violating the banking laws was a lad who had signed notes to the bank for $310,000——New York markets: Money on call steady at 1 1-2 to 2 per cent., ruling rate and closing bid 1 1-2. offered 1 3-4. Flour steady, but low. Wheat firm, red 108 to 109 elevator. Corn weak, No. 2 78 3-4 nominal elevator. Oats quiet, 53 to 53 1-2. Rosin quiet. Turpentine steady 41. Cotton closed quite, 10 points up, middling uplands 9.30, middling gulf 9.55.

The members of the Peace Congress had a plenty of elbow room in the Greensboro auditorium.

Taft continues to make flings at the South in the reasons he gives for his present southern tour.

Richard H. Edmonds, of the Manufacturers' Record is the latest result of Hearst's muck-raking.

If you have not registered you had better do so today. There is danger in putting it off any longer.

Hearst hasn't yet published the correspondence between Archbold and George Washington. That may come next.

We don't suppose Mr. Slocomb thinks he won many votes by the joint debate with Congressman Godwin in this city Thursday. night.

The sheriff is, at last accounts, still dodging around the country with that negro, keeping out of sight of imaginary lynching mobs.

Durham seems to be the storm center of local politics in this campaign. That town never does anything in a half way style.

The Durham Herald says it does not know what Taft is coming to this State for, but it does know what he is not going to get.

A member of the Chicago beef trust writes from London that all Europe is for Taft. That is a good reason why Americans should be against him.

Speaker Cannon is selling his real estate in Nebraska. Does this mean that he is hard up or that he does not want to be a freeholder of the State of the next President?

Greece evidently calls to mind that Cretans of today are the descendants of those who some centuries ago had such hard things said about their lack of veracity.

Nicholas Longworth says Roosevelt did not pull him off the stump; but we notice that he has made no more speeches since that famous one at Rock Island.

The statement of the chairman of the Independence party in New York that he expects his candidate for Governor to be elected does not reach the dignity of a very poor joke.

Senator Elkins shows his levelheadedness when he says his daughter cannot mary the Duke of Abruzzi unless the latter will agree to live in this country and go to work as any other American citizen.

SETTLERS FOR ST. HELENA

Party of Thirty-one Direct From Valley of the Po Have Arrived to Make Their Home Here. Dutch Colonists.

The Fall movement of settlers to the Carolina Trucking Development Company's various colonies is on and 31 new arrivals came in on the Coast Line train Friday morning, landing directly at St. Helena and were enthusiastically welcomed by their friends and relatives who had preceded them.

Brother joined brother, father joined son, and sister joined sister, bringing a husband who will soon have others to join him, and so it goes. The success of those who first braved the unknown and cast their whole fortune in North Carolina, consisting largely of muscle, energy, and a firm determination to succeed, has crossed and recrossed the Atlantic in messages to those left behind and ere long a single community in Northern Italy will have furnished a colony here of which the State can boast as the largest in the whole United States.

St. Helena is still less than three years old and the percentage of increase shows it to be the fastest growing city in the State. In December 1907, the original seven settlers had been increased in one year to 78 and the arrivals of this week brings the total now at the colony to well up over 300 people.

A large Western concern invented the phrase "We achieved our success by making others successful" to use as a slogan. The Carolina Trucking Development Company could well use something on the same order, as the success of their St. Helena colonists is undoubtedly what brings others and still others to build up the back country.

The St. Helena Colony of North Italians has grown like a mushroom and yet the plans are all so well laid that no confusion or dissatisfaction has occurred. It is marvelous to see the amount of virgin timber land these hardy people have cleaned up and placed under cultivation, and it is safe to say that those arriving this week will pick at least a few strawberries next Spring from land prepared by themselves. They don't waste any time getting down to work and the splendid progress of those who come before is an extra incentive to make up the difference in time they figure as lost.

Mr. Herman Schwickart, the company's special representative in Holland, spent the entire week here and he stated that at least 15 expert Dutch truckers would arrive here before January 1st.

The Dutch as intensive farmers are the best in the world. More than six millions of them make a living on less than one-fourth the territory contained within the borders of North Carolina and it is a good living too, but the Dutch are ambitious and any community in this country having them as citizens may consider itself fortunate indeed.

A MISSIONARY INSTITUTE.

Interesting Meeting of Ladies of Baptist Association Next Month.

Considerable interest is being taken by the ladies of the Wilmington Baptist Association in the gathering here next month, when a Missionary Institute will be held, and several very active and well known missionary workers will be present. The institute will be under the direction of Miss Fannie Heck, of Raleigh, and accompanying her will be Mrs. Hight C. Moore, and Misses Mary A. Applewhite and Elizabeth Ray, of Charlotte, who are prominent in the State in missionary work and church organization.

The institute will be in session on November 10th and 11th and an interesting programme will be arranged for the various sessions. The institute will be held in the First Baptist church. Meetings of a similar nature are being held throughout the State and are for the purpose of injecting enthusiasm and energy in the local missionary work.

FIRE THIS MORNING.

Wholesale Grocery of Sam Bear Sr. & Son Gutted on Market Street.

The three-story brick wholesale grocery store of Samuel Bear Sr. & Sons, at No. 18 Market street, was gutted by fire which started in the roof of the building this morning at 3:15 o'clock, causing a loss of several thousands dollars. An alarm was sent in to the department from box 41 at foot of the street but when the firemen arrived the fire had already gained considerabe headway and being near the rear, the blaze was exceedingly difficult to get at. The building and the stock is practically a complete loss as the two lower floors were completely flooded with the oceans of water required to check the flames after they broke through the roof. At this hour no estimate of the loss nor of the insurance can be given. The buildings adjoining were damaged to some extent by water and smoke.

GREAT GAME TO-DAY

Davidson and University Meet For Their Annual Football Game Here Today.

TEAMS CAME IN LAST NIGHT

Red and Black and Blue and White the Colors to Charm Eye Today. Odds are About Even. Teams.

The red and black of Davidson and the blue and white of the University will everywhere strive for the mastery today. All other color schemes for the time will be forgotten and the town, fully imbued for the once with the college spirit, will turn out en masse in honor of the old-time rival football squads which are to clash this afternoon at the New League Park for the State championship.

For several days arrangements have been under way for this big sporting event and there appears now nothing on the horizon to mar the perfect success of the game. The Weather Man promises a fair sky with only light southeast winds and more ideal conditions could not be imagined. Both teams arrived late last night on a special Pullman over the Seaboard Air Line in fine fettle for the battle of the morrow and Messrs. Gwaltney and Hatch, of the park management, announce that they have everything in readiness for the grid-iron warriors and their friends who are expected to throng the grounds. The teams remained aboard the sleeper at the station last night, but will be up to The Orton for breakfast this morning and for a brief warming up on the field. Accompanying the teams are a number of their supporters from the two colleges, who are expected to join with the locals in making the welkin ring out at the park this afternoon. There are also here for the game a number of visitors from nearby towns with others to arrive on the various trains today.

Football enthusiasm began to take hold of the town as early as yesterday and the colors made their appearance in several windows and on coat lapels all over town. There is much speculation as to which of the teams will carry off the honors. The chances are generally regarded about even with the odds perhaps slightly in favor of Davidson. There are strong sppporters of each eleven in Wilmington and the game will be pulled off under the most favorable auspices. Several Wilmington and East Carolina boys appear on each side of the line-up and will, of course, receive more than a royal welcome upon the field. The positions as they are expected to be played today are about as follows:

U. N. C.		Davidson
Manning	re	Wilkinson
Norwood	rt	Dunn
Howell	rg	Daniels
Beans	c	Edgerton
Rogers	lg	Whitley
Garrett	lt	Moore
Wiggins	le	Kluttz
Fillett	qb	Elliott (c)
Thomas	rhb	Denny
Ruffin	fb	Clark
Williams	lhb	James

During the past three years these teams have played two tie games and the University has won by the narrow margin of 4 to 0 in one game. The Davidson team is practically unknown in Wilmington but the Presbyterians are expected to make themselves acquainted this afternoon with every pound of strength they possess. Davidson is coached this year by Levine, of Yale, the star full back of the championship team of 1905. The team although light is very fast and works well together and will doubtless make up for their deficiency in weight with their quickness. Captain Elliott at quarter back is a man well capable of handling the generalship of the team. He not only knows good head work but is a sure ground gainer. Denny, at right half back, was the star half back of last year's team. He well proved his worth in the way he handled himself last season. Clark, at full back, is another of last year's team and an Eastern Carolina boy who holds his position as well as it could be held. James, left half back, is another Eastern Carolinian and of last year's eleven. He will show up in his old-time form in the game today. At right end the many admirers of "Joe" Wilkinson, of Wilmington, will be glad to see him play the game of his life in his home town. Kluttz at left end has remarkable speed and will give a good account of himself. Dunn and Moore as tackles are both of last year's "Varsity" team and have shown up in their accustomed fine form. Daniels and Whitley, the guards are "right there with the goods." Daniels is of last year's team and Whitley is a new man but a valuable addition to the team. Edgerton at centre is last year's captain. It will be enough to state that he received favorable mention for All Southern last year and was given a place on All South Atlantic. The team in every way is well prepared to hold up the high standard of Davidson.

The game will be called this afternoon at 3 o'clock and the Tidewater Power Company has arranged for a fast and ample schedule of cars after 1 P. M. The admission is 50 cents general with 25 cents for grandstand and bleachers. Tickets may be purchased at DeRosset's and Gerken Tobacco Company's.

STATE FAIR BIG SUCCESS

Closing Feature, the Ball Last Night. Times Publishing Co. Chartered. Automobile Races—Two Tragedies in Raleigh—Notes.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 16.—The 48th. annual State State Fair closed one of the most successful records in its history today, the climax being a brilliant marshal's ball tonight in the ball room of Capitol Club.

There were probably over 300 dancers and the club apartments were thronged with a brilliant assemblage of the North Carolina society folk from every part of the State. In the course of a special figure for the purpose, Chief Marshal Thomas O'Berry, of Goldsboro, presented his regalia to Miss Josephine Boylan, the chief lady marshal, and the assistant marshals, nearly one hundred in line, bestowed their regalias to ladies of their choice. The Fair has been eminently successful in every particular.

The Times Publishing Co., of Raleigh, was chartered today to take over the business and franchise of The Visitor Press Co., which has for a number of years published the Raleigh Evening Times here. The capital is $100,000 authorized and $16,300 subscribed by J. V. Simms and others. Mr. Simms holds $16,000 of the stock, the other $300 being by young men in the office, eorge Hall one share, A. L. Fletcher one share and J. E. Clark one share. Mr. Simms successfully piloted the Times through its recent financial troubles which had accummulated before he came from Charlotte to take charge. He has a number of important changes in the get-up and management of the paper in a creditable course of enterprise and public spirit that he will announce later.

Another charter is to the Mt. Airy Sewer Co., for extending a sewerage system in the town of Mt. Airy, Surry county, capital $1,000 by Geo. D. Fawcett, Thomas Woodruff, R. D. Haywood and others.

W. R. Crawford, a well known farmer of this county, was committed to jail today without bail to await the result of knife wounds inflicted last evening at the Fair grounds upon W. Foster Nipper, a neighbor farmer. He was put under only $100 bond last night because it was thought that the wounds were not serious. It develops now that a cut in the abdomen penetrated the cavity and that Nipper is addicted to peritonitis so that a fatal result is probable.

The automobile race at the Fair was won by William Boylan, his record against time being 65 miles an hour. Other entries were Harry Lee, of Raleigh, and Mr. George Lyon, of Durham.

Jack Murphy, a well known white man of this city was probably fatally shot today in a desreputable section of the city by Alice Crowder in her house. They quarreled. Murphy struck at the woman and she fired the ball entering his head between the eyes. He is in the hospital with little prospect of recovery. The woman is in the city prison awaiting the result of the wound.

On His Run Again.

The folowing from the Wilson Times will be read with interest by Wilmington friends: "That very popular conductor, Capt. Thad Garvey, after an absence of several months in consequence of an injured foot, is back again on his old run between Norfolk and Wilmington and his hosts of friends are delighted to see his familiar face again. Capt. Frank Pitt, who had his run, has relieved the genial and agreeable Capt. Dove, who ran Norfolk and Goldsboro shoofly and we are glad to know that we will still have the pleasure of seeing the kindly beaming face of the polished and affable Capt. Pitts, one of the cleverest conductors on the Atlantic Coast Line."

Actress in Runaway.

Yesterday afternoon's Fayetteville Observer gives a thrilling account of a runaway which occurred there at 3:30 o'clock as the paper was going to press. Miss Doris Hardie, one of the leading ladies in the Wayne Musical Comedy Co., playing there this week, was out riding with Miss Elizabeth Ledbetter, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Ledbetter when the horse became unmanageable, ran into a cart smashed a wheel and in turning the corner of Donaldson and Hay streets turned the buggy over throwing both occupants out. Neither, however, was seriously hurt though both suffered a number of lacerations and bruises.

Back From Baptist Asociation.

Pastors and delegates returned yesterday morning from the Wilmington Baptist Association in session the past three days at Wallace, N. C. All reports were very satisfactory and the work was found to be in fine shape in this section. All the old officers were re-elected, Mr. George E. Leftwich moderator, Rev. G. A. Martin, vice moderator, and C. E. McCullen, Esq., of Burgaw, clerk. All departments of the church work were enrouraged to greater work during the coming year.

SALE OF CITY BONDS

Conference of Board of Audit and Finance and Finance Committee of Aldermen.

TO DELIVER OR NOT DELIVER

That is the Question Now With City Authorities—City Attorney Gives Opinion Recent Alleged Sale Was Illegal.

After more than an hour's consideration of the question of whether or not to deliver $200,000 of the city's water and sewerage bonds recently sold to Seasongood & Meyer, of Cincinnati, in view of the fact that a question has arisen as to the legality of the sale, the Board of Audit and Finance and the Finance Committee of the Board of Aldermen adjourned yesterday afternoon without reaching any definite conclusion on the proposition.

The meeting was held at 5:30 o'clock in the room of the Board of Audit and Finance at the City Hall, those present having been Chairman McQueen, Messrs. S. P. McNair, M. G. Tiencken, C. W. Yates and Captain T. D. Meares, clerk of the Board of Audit and Finance; Chairman Bolles and Messrs. Martin O'Brien and S. J. Ellis, of the Finance Committee of the Board of Aldermen; City Attorney Marsden Bellamy, Jr., and Mr. J. B. Works, a representative of Seasongood & Meyer. Chairman McQueen presided and stated that the meeting had been called at the request of Chairman Bolles, of the Finance Committee of the Board of Aldermen to get some expression from the Board of Audit and Finance as to some new questions that have arisen in regard to the recent sale of the bonds. He asked Dr. Bolles to state the proposition, which he did, saying that Seasongood & Mayer, the purchasers of the bonds, had fully investigated the validity and sale of the securities through attorneys and were satisfied to take them at their bid, claiming that they have already sold a part of them and think the city should deliver them in good faith. In view of the recent developments, he thought it a good idea for the Finance Committee to discuss the matter informally with the Board of Audit and Finance as the Board of Aldermen would most likely be guided largely by what the committee recommended and the committee desired to know before going further what attitude the Board of Audit and Finance would assume in regard to the matter. He then explained at length the negotiations leading up to the sale of the bonds to Seasongood & Mayer and the objection that had been raised that in allowing $8,000 for the sale of the bonds, the securities would be floated below par which is specifically prohibited in the act authorizing the issue. Whether this was true or not he did not know, but he believed that the sale was a very advantageous one for the city and he would like to see it go through. Figured down to its last analysis, the sale was really at 4.7 per cent. and no bids had been received before at less than 5 per cent. with only a small premium. He explained the process of arriving at this conclusion and stated that it would further be advantageous to sell the bonds right now as labor for any construction work was 15 to 30 per cent. lower than it would be for perhaps two years hence and just now the water works system could be acquired on favorable terms to the city.

Mr. Tiencken wanted to know why if the bid amounted to 4.7 per cent. Seasongood & Mayer did not make that as their bid and leave the $8,000 bonus out of the question altogether. Dr. Bolles explained why the bidder would not accept that as it would interfere with their sale, the terms not being understood by the average investor. The sale was undoubtedly a good one and the only question was to get around the legal obstacles in the way.

City Attorney Bellamy was called upon for his opinion in the matter and stated that so far as he could determine after a very careful inquiry into the law and facts, Seasongood & Mayer were the purchasers or the bonds and as purchasers could not receive a commission and if they were the city's agents they would have to account to the city for their sale of bonds as a lower rate of interest below par, however advantageous, would be illegal as the act expressly said the securities must be sold at par. He had looked very carefully into that special phase of the matter and believed that if the Board of Audit and Finance and Board of Aldermen delivered the bonds upon the terms of the present sale, members of the two boards would be personally liable for the $8,000 upon suit by any citizen in a court of jurisdiction. He read authorities in support of his opinion and said that he had yet to find one local attorney who disagreed with him in that opinion. He suggested a friendly suit to test the question of a delay until Legislative authority could be

AN APPEAL TO DEMOCRATS.

As was seen in Thursday's Star, the Democratic national committee has published its receipts and disbursements up to the 9th instant, which shows balance of cash on hand of only $22,604. The committee in the same statement announced that it would need $100,000 more to pay the expenses of the campaign from that time on. If the committee can carry the campaign through on the small amount of $348,000, it will do a wonderful piece of campaign work. Never before was there such a vigorous national fight made on such small amount of money. The committee is being as economical as it is possible to be. It is spending no money where not absolutely necessary, and every cent is for legitimate and lawful purposes. These facts make it all the more incumbent on the people to cheerfully answer the call of the committee when it asks for $100,000 more and tells them that such sum is absolutely necessary to defray the expenses of the campaign. This money must be raised by voluntary contributions from the people. It is the people's cause the committee is fighting and they should furnish the means of carrying on the fight. They have responded nobly to the call but they must do more. It is their duty to themselves as well as to the party to do so. We appeal to the Democrats of this section to come forward with their aid. Let every one give something, each one within his means. Give a dollar; if you cannot spare that much, give a less sum; but give something. It would be disastrous to the party were this sum not raised and the committee forced to let up in its campaign just at this critical time. It would mean sure defeat. Remember that every donation, no matter how small, helps. Won't our people come to the aid of the committee in this crisis of the party and help it to victory? We believe they will do so, for now is the time for them to show their loyalty to the party.

MORE BREAKS BY TAFT.

Mr. Taft, as a candidate for office, seeking the votes of the people, made some remarkable statements in his speeches in Kentucky on Thursday; some of them not calculated, to say the least, to draw to him the people of that State and others of a tenor to create prejudice against him among the citizens of the other Southern States. He told the Kentuckians that the only way their State could secure the position she ought to hold in the Union was for them to make it a Republican State. The natural and only inference to be drawn from this is that the Republican party and administration has kept that State from occupying the position she is entitled to because she persists in remaining in the Democratic column of States.

Another remarkable statement was the one in which he drew a distinction between Kentucky and the States further south to the disparagement of the citizens of the latter. We are curious to know in what different strain from that used in Kentucky he will deem it necessary to address the people of North Carolina and other Southern States. Will he charge the latter with having "prejudices and traditions" which place them below the Kentuckians? Whether he will make the assertion or not his language infers that he holds to such opinion. We suppose it is these "prejudices and traditions" which have barred these States under Republican national rule from occupying the relations toward the federal Government they are entitled to and which would be granted to them if they would surrender their rights and their privileges in exchange for the Republican party's recognition as coequal in national affairs with those States of the Union which are now Republican.

When Taft comes South making such speeches it is well for him that he did not expect his tour to bring him any votes, for he will not be disappointed.

IMPORTANT TO VOTERS.

There is only one more week in which persons can register. After next Saturday all those entitled to vote whose names are not on the registration books will be deprived of the privilege, and if there are any such persons who cannot read or write they will have lost forever their right to vote. Illiterate men who have not registered should do so at once and have their names put on the permanent roll by the clerk of the Superior Court of their county, under the grandfather clause of the constitution. Those who do this are safe for all time. Even those illiterates whose names are now on the registration books should have them put on the permanent roll, for otherwise there is danger that at some future time they might lose their right to vote, which would be the case in any and every county wherein a new registration were ordered, which is a matter within the discretion of the board of county commissioners. In other words, an illiterate who is voting now under ordinary registration would not be allowed after this election, to register anew unless he had permanently registered by having his name put on the roll in the office of the clerk of the Superior Court of his county. This may affect many voters in future elections, and none who comes within this class should delay in attending to it.

The American Star, of Baltimore, a Republican paper, is alarmed over the absence of enthusiasm in the campaign. It asks "What does it mean? Why this apathy of voters?" It means that the Republican voters as well as the party managers are disheartened by the way the people are rallying around Bryan.

The New York Republican campaign managers think conditions in their State are desperate enough without turning Cannon lose on the people; so they have canceled his appointments and told him he could confine his style of oratory to the West.

CURRENT COMMENT.

—The Washington Post thinks that the issues at stake between the two great parties are not grave enough to rouse the interest of the country. That was not the opinion of the Post a few months ago. Then it thought reduction of the tariff important enough to warrant a campaign dealing with nothing else. The situation has not changed, but the Post has shifted its point of view.—Virginian Pilot.

—The licorice trust is another one that has not failed to escape punishment in the way of fines. It lays down $18,000 and quits the fight. About three years ago a fine in that amount was imposed upon it for violation of the anti-trust law and the case was appealed. In the Supreme Court this week attorneys for the trust withdrew the appeal. The conviction was had against the licorice trust for conspiracy in restraint of trade in favoring the tobacco trust in prices and deliveries for use in the manufacture of plug tobacco.—Charlotte Chronicle.

—A Baltimore corespondent of the Philadelphia Record, writing of the great fight the Democrats are making in that city, refers to the significant act of Joseph McGregor, secretary of the Federation of Labor, in withdrawing from the race after accepting the nomination for Congress from the Independence League. McGregor is quoted as saying that inasmuch as "the Democracy has unqualifiedly pledged itself if placed in power to secure the relief to which the toilers of our country are justly entitled," he feels bound in conscience to advocate the election of Bryan. "This," says the correspondent, "is one of the straws that indicate how the wind is blowing hereabout."—Macon Telegraph.

—Mr. Thomas Settle, one of the chief Republican spellbinders in North Carolina, a few days ago, in a speech at Raleigh, twitted Hon. W. W. Kitchin on being so poor, after ten terms in Congress, that he had to mortgage his home to raise money to defray the expenses of his campaign for the Democratic Gubernatorial nomination. From the Republican standpoint this may be a reflection and a reproach. But from our viewpoint, it is distinctly and in the highest degree to the credit of the South that the great majority of the Senators and Representatives in Congress from this section are today as poor in this world's goods as when they first took their seats in the National Legislature; while Cannon, Sibley and others too numerous to mention on the Republican side, though entering as poor as church mice, are now rolling in wealth Where did the latter gentlemen get it?

—It has been many years since H. Rider Haggard swept two continents with his wonderful story, "She." He opened a new field in fiction, a field where imagination ran riot, where rishes and splendor dazzled and allured and weirdness ran riot. Mr. Haggard has returned once more to this in his newest story, "The Yellow God," and those who have read the manuscript of the story are unanimous in saying that it is even better than "She." It has many of the qualities that made that work so popular. The author has let his amazing imagination have free rein. The result is a series of adventures and scenes in the heart of Africa that will be devoured with breathless interest. There is a captivating but cruel queen who rules over the land who is quite as fascinating as the one "who must be obeyed." And her palace and the kingdom over which she ruled and the sacred rites that took place there offer Mr. Haggard a splendid opportunity for the exercise of his remarkable powers of writing.—Philadelphia Press.

—Experience gained in the tunnels of New York enabled two young American engineers to achieve one of the most remarkable feats in the annals of wrecking last April on the coast of Nova Scotia. This was the salvage of the fine 9,000-ton steamship Mount Temple, valued at $500,000 at an outlay of only $12,000, after it had been abandoned as hopelessly lost. Indeed after the vessel had been placed in the dry dock it was found to be so fearfully battered and torn that the cost of repairs was estimated at more than half the value of the shop, so the owners wanted it condemned. The feat called for daring as well as ingenuity, for "there was nothing between us and England," as one of the men on the job expressed it, which was his way of saying that the wreck was exposed to the full fury of the Atlantic. At first glance, there would seem to be no connection between wrecking and tunnel building, yet it was the expert use of one thing that made the digigng of the tunnels under the Hudson and East river possible that floated the Mount Temple, and that one thing was compressed air. The achievement is all the more interesting because it was the second time the same men had saved a wreck by the same means after all the expedients known in the salvage business had been tried in vain.—Techincal World Magazine.

DIXON ROASTS MONTGOMERY

We Drove the Carpet Bagger From Our Midst, But the Scalawag Has Alawys Remained in the South.

(News and Observer.)

To the Editor:—I am delighted to see that ex-Judge Walter Montgomery does not like "The Traitor" or its author! If he did like me I'd be ashamed to shake hands with myself—even in the dark! If my books or plays ever meet the aproval of a Southern scalawag or traitor, I'll withdraw them from circulation.

I am always proud that I am a Southern white man until a sneak of the Montgomery type bobs up and begins to foul the memory of the brave men with whom he once fought—then the more I see of such men, the better I like dogs.

Every decent citizen in America today, black or white, Democrat or Republican, North or South, is ashamed of the foul record of Reconstruction—except the native skunk who still lives in the South and habitually betrays his race for office. This man has always stood forth unique and shameless in his degradation. Hell was made to consume such leper trash, but if I were the Devil, I would n't give them hell-room—I'd make a brush heap outside.

The Republican party can never make any progress in the South until it ceases to honor these traitors. There are Southern white Republicans, descendants of the Old Whig, who believe something, stands for something, are something. Yet the moment a Judas Iscariot appears who is willing to foul the nest in which he was reared, they push these men of principle aside, acclaim the renegade a hero and give him an office as a reward for his infamy. The South owes a debt of gratitude to a few carpet-baggers, men of brains and conscience, who helped to stay the flow of corruption in the dark days of Reconstruction—but in all our history not a single solitary native traitor of the Montgomery breed has ever lifted his hand to do ought for his country except to draw his salary! We drove the carpet-bagger from our midst, but the scalawag, our native product, has always remained in the South to fatten on corruption and breed death to society—and a living death to the party which harbors him. For this man always stands for negro supremacy.

The courage of the Celt, the nobility of the Norman, the vigor of the Viking, the energy of the Angle, the tenacity of the Saxon, the daring of the Dane, the gallantry of the Gaul, the earth hunger of the Roman and the stoicism of the Spartan are the heritage of the Southern white man by divine gift of blood from sire and dame through hundreds of generations and through centuries of culture! Yet when we face this native traitor who once wore the gray and rose in darker days with the men who as Clansmen led a successful revolution out of defeat and ruin and tore the negro's hand from the throats of our women—when we face this skunk and see him eagerly betray his own race to fatten on their sorrows, how can we explain him? I am afraid that we find here proof positive that with the brave and true men who came to our shores from the Old World and Created this Republic there were mixed a few of low criminal origin. Blood will tell. There is no other reasonable explanation of the continued phenomena of the Southern scalawag.

Ex-Judge Montgomery highly honors me in his denunciation! He can depend on it I tried to give him his dues in my play, "The Traitor," I tried, and I think I succeeded in covering him and his tribe with everylasting infamy. This play I count the best and most artistic piece of work I have yet done; for I have so carefully constructed it and got my results so skillfully that I will make the Northern Republican hiss and curse him with the same enthusiasm as the Southern white man. And long after both of us are silent in death, my books and plays will be telling the truth to generations yet unborn.

You really get that much piano value free by joining our club now forming. Our wonderful club plan of piano selling makes it easier to own a piano than to want for one. You can join a club and have a magnificent piano sent to your home at once. You have the use and enjoyment of it while you are paying for it in little sums as the club matures. In a short time you own a beautiful piano that would cost you not less than $400 anywhere else.

By making and selling in lots of one hundred instead of a single piano at a time, we can furnish our members with a really genuine $400 New Scale Ludden & Bates Piano for $287—a cash saving of $113.

Of course, there is but little profit to the makers at this price. The profit on one piano is insignificant—only by forming a club of one hundred is it worth while.

The Ludden & Bates New Scale PIANO

Is a strictly high-grade instrument with its price made moderate by our club plan. A written guarantee for a lifetime. Has special copper-wound and steel strings throughout. Full cabinet grand, balanced scale, as perfect as skill can make it. Double repeating action, with light even touch. Genuine ivory keys. Beautiful cases of fancy walnut, mahogany or oak, lined throughout with birds-eye maple. Tone full and rich, with that peculiar "singing" quality found only in the highest grade of pianos.

In case of the death of the head of the family we cancel the club contract and make you an outright present of the unpaid balance. The piano then belongs to you absolutely. This free life insurance has allowed the completion of many a musical education, and is worth your consideration. It is practically an assurance that you will not lose your piano through inability to pay dues.

Write us at once for an application blank and complete description of different styles of finish. In this way you can make a selection that will delight you. You can leave the question of tone to us. We will see that you get a perfect instrument. A well made, attractive stool and a beautiful scarf go with each piano. Write for full information of the club that is now forming.

Should a Man Economize On His Clothes?

If we had high-priced clothing to sell, we could probably convince you that you couldn't afford to wear cheap clothing.

No man can afford to wear clothes that discount him in the eyes of everybody he meets. But you can't walk a block in this city with out passing many men who are wearing clothing that sets badly on them; is curled at the edges, and drawn out of shape—because they paid a few dollars less for it than they would have need to pay for perfect-fitting clothes.

And the perfect-fitting clothing would not only make them look better and feel better every minute they had it on, BUT WOULD WEAR HALF AS LONG AGAIN, at least, and so be cheaper in the end than the clothes that never gave any satisfaction, first or last.

But, while SOLKY CLOTHING is the BEST that is known, ready-made, in style, workmanship and finish, it costs just about the same as the less worthy kinds.

Men's Sack Suits, $15 to $28
Men's Fall Overcoats, $15 to $25
Men's Raincoats, $15 to $25

MEN'S COLORED STIF BOSOM SHIRTS.

Many men of the very best taste insist upon wearing stiff-bosom shirts. We have provided two unusually handsome lines in patterns that will suit the most fastidious. Made of fine percales in beautiful printings. Some of the shirts are made coat style with attached cuffs, at $1.50 EACH; others, open front and back, with attached or separate cuffs $1.00 EACH.

The Result of a Case of School Love.

[Original.]

Ensign Schuyler Noble, attached to United States battleship Prairie, was in trouble. Prairie was not the name of the ship. It wouldn't do to give her real name, for she was named in honor of one of the western states and the parties to this story might be identified. Nor was Noble the name of the ensign, nor are any of the names here given real names. But that has nothing to do with the story. Noble was in a fix, the most usual fix in the world for a sailor—he had too many girls. He had only two, but it is a question if a dozen might not be more readily managed than two. If the two had been in different ports the problem might have been simpler, but they were not. They were—that is, for the present—in the same port, and that was where the Prairie had just been launched.

Lucy Archibald's right and title, so far as priority goes, were indisputable. She and Noble had been classmates at the high school where Noble had prepared for the Naval academy and had become involved in a case of puppy love. Every one wondered how Noble could fancy her, for she was a trifle loud in appearance and given to slang. To tell the truth, he was not badly wounded by the dart that pierced him, for instead of Cupid having sent it Lucy had fired it herself. In other words, given a boy of sixteen and a girl of eighteen and the boy is putty in the hands of the girl.

But Noble was noble in nature as well as in name and wouldn't go back on even a schoolboy's pledge. This was all very well till he met Camella Tryne, a daughter of an admiral and a very lovely girl, to whom the young sailor became speedily attached.

"What are you doing with your flag up union down, Schuyler?" asked Lieutenant Mansfield just before the launching.

Noble made a confidant of his friend, telling him about his superfluity of girl. Mansfield told him to take in his distress signal, apparent on his countenance, and try to find some way out of the dilemma.

The state for which the Prairie was named had presented the ship with a complete set of silver tableware, and as soon as the vessel slid out into deep water and the shouting and the firing were over invited guests went below to partake of a luncheon at which this service was used. Now, the captain had commissioned Mansfield to have lookouts at the gangways and otherwise take precautions that no thieves come aboard with the guests to get away with valuables. Mansfield took such steps to protect property as he deemed effectual.

A salute of champagne corks followed the guns fired on shore, and the guests fell to in disposing of the dainties prepared for them, after which they passed up the companionway to the deck, where they strolled about or stood chatting in groups. Lucy Archibald had captured Ensign Noble, who was promenading with her, and instead of looking happy the "union down" floated plainer than ever from his masthead. The girl insisted on taking him back and forth past the admiral's party, where Miss Tryne saw them, wondered and wrapped herself in a mantle of cool dignity.

It was about this time that something happened. There were aboard a number of maidservants, dressed in the conventional livery of black dresses and white ruffled aprons, whose ostensible duties were to serve the ladies. Suddenly Noble saw his friend Mansfield come up the companionway with one of these maids and point to his companion, Lucy Archibald. The maid advanced and said to Lucy in a low voice:

"I have to trouble you for the spoon."

"What spoon?"

"The one you took from the officers' mess."

"Oh," said Lucy, coloring, "I wanted it for a souvenir."

People were looking when she opened a vanity bag hanging from her wrist and, taking out a silver spoon marked "U. S. S. Prairie," surrendered it to the maid.

Now, there was a part of this story that Lieutenant Mansfield did not, at least at the time, tell Ensign Noble. Knowing of the mania among ladies even of apparent respectability to take articles for souvenirs, he had engaged several women detectives, dressing them in maids' uniforms to watch. After the luncheon they interviewed privately the ladies they had caught pilfering and recovered a couple of dozen spoons and other small articles belonging to the ship's new service. Mansfield in order to extricate his friend from his double girl dilemma had made a public example of Miss Archibald, leaving Noble to consider her a thief. The other cases Noble was not informed of.

Even had Noble really loved the girl it is doubtful if he would have remained engaged to her after this episode. At any rate, next morning Miss Archibald received a note from him breaking the engagement, and his captain, coached by Mansfield, ordered him away on special duty, so that the souvenir girl, as she came to be called, couldn't get him again into her clutches.

When the Prairie went into commission, Mansfield and Noble both being among her officers, Mansfield told his friend that Lucy was no more of a thief than a considerable number of others of the guests, but by this time Noble had found a new anchorage in the admiral's family, and it was too late for him to rectify any injustice he may have done his former fiancee.

THE FALL RECEPTION

Delightful Affair Last Night at Y. M. C. A.—Many Present.

The inauguration of the Fall campaign at the local Young Men's Christian Association, was marked last evening by the Fall Reception, which was carried out successfully under the direction of the Ladies' Auxiliary and was an occasion of general social interest, featured by short addresses by friends and active members of the Association.

The plan of decoration for the opening event was elaborate, especially in the parlors, which was in charge of Miss Lucy Chadbourn. The decorative work otherwise of a descriptive nature was artistically arranged by Mrs. James Powell and other lady assistants, and consisted of golden rod, palms, Southern smilax and other cut flowers that furnished a harmonious display.

It was a gathering of the friends and members of the Association and the assemblage began at 8 o'clock, and continued through the evening. The callers were many and much interest was manifested in addresses by Dr. Joseph Akerman, president of the Association; Rev. John M. Wells, D. D., pastor of the First Presbyterian church; Mr. W. B. Cooper and Mr. Edward Kettle, general secretary of the Association.

Dr. Akerman outlined the work of the Association for the coming season and Dr. Wells delivered a fluent and able talk on the Y. M. C. A. as an auxiliary to the church. Mr. Cooper made a thoughtful talk on what the business men expect the Y. M. C. A. to do for the young men of the city. The closing address by Mr. Kettle, discussed the general affairs of the Association speaking chiefly of the duty in a social way to young men of the city, especially of strange young men, who join the Association. He was exceedingly pleased that so many of the young men are willing to cooperate in this work.

In the announcement of the programme in charge of the members of the Bible Study Class, Mr. Kettle spoke of the farewell address of Rev. R. W. Hogue, pastor of St. James' Episcopal church, which will be delivered at the meeting of the Bible class on Sunday, October 25th. His association with the work and his splendid efforts in its behalf, has caused a general feeling of regret at Mr. Hogue's contemplated departure.

A delightful feature of the evening's programme was the gymnasium exercises, under the direction of Dr. F. W. Burkhardt, which was highly praised.

The musical entertainment was well arranged by Miss Maud Bulluck, several selections on the piano by Misses Agnes Chasten and Julia Post having been features.

The Theatre

At matinee this afternoon the Mason-Newcomb Stock Company will resume its popular price engagement, after laying-off last night for Black Patti. This repertoire company will consequently give two performances today and something delightful is promised in each.

At matinee the bill will be one especially to please the ladies and children, being the well known modern drama, "His Country Sweetheart," and tonight "The Gypsy Queen," which is a play of stiring nature, will be offered. In connection with each will be given a new and fine line of specialities. The price for the matinee will be 10 and 20 cents, and seats for tonight can now be secured at Plummer's and as an extra inducement for tonight ladies will be admitted free under the usual conditions.

Wayne Comedy Co.

"The White Hat" the newest of comical musical plays by the Wayne Musical Comedy Co's. carefully selected company of singing comedians and sparkling soubretts, is to be the attraction at the Academy for a two-nights engagement commencing Monday. That it will prove to be one of the special events of the season is said to be a foregone conclusion, judging from the glowing reports from everywhere along the line wherever this splendid attraction has thus far been presented. The play with its deftly constructed comedy, abundance of song hits, brilliant dialogue and rapid fun, assures one there will be no dull moments and that the audience will be kept busy with laughter and applause during the action of the piece. Seats for Monday night are now on sale at Plummer's. Prices to $1.

Seats for "The Traitor."

The sale of seats for "The Traitor" (night performance) commenced at Plummer's yesterday morning and is already large. There is, no doubt, but what the Dixon play will be greeted by packed houses in Wilmington. The sale of seats for the matinee will open at Plummer's at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning. The engagement of this feature attraction is for matinee and night Wednesday of next week.

The Wilmington engagement of "The Traitor" will be next to the last before the company goes for a long run at one of the New Orleans theatres, the engagements at Charlotte, Columbia and elsewhere in this section having been cancelled. The company goes from Wilmington to Fayetteville and leaves immediately thereafter for the far South. At 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon 850 seats in the new threatre at Fayetteville had been sold for the performance there, with only 143 seats left.

"The Runaways."

Business Manager Cook, of "The Runaways," is in the city making final arrangements for the appearance of this bright Musical comedy at the Academy next Friday night. The play had a big run at the Casino, New York, so nothing much can be said other than that in praise of the play. The company this year, which is owned by Manager S. A. Schloss, of this city, is a big one, headed by the diminutive comedian, George Ovey, who is playing "Blutch." "The Runaways" played two fair dates in Raleigh this week and the press of Raleigh highly praised the attraction.

ELKSFEST ATTRACTIONS

Manager Buckley Receives Some From Raleigh Fair—Other Notes.

Manager Buckley, who is in Raleigh, telegraphed yesterday morning that he had secured a number of the most desirable State Fair attractions for Elksfest here the first week in November and is in every way enthusiastic over his new acquisitions. Mr. Buckley personally had a look over the entire midway and secured the best on the pike.

So great and so manifold have been the attractions added from time to time that the committee now finds itself up against the proposition of larger quarters. The management is seriously considering the removal of Elksplaz to Thirteenth and Market streets and this may be done later.

The advertising committee has also hit upon a decidedly novel plan of advertising the big festival. The plan is to charter a special train to make a tour of all nearby towns of consequence with a brass band on board. stops of an hour would be made at each place, the band would give a concert, advertising matter would be distributed and other methods would be employed to give the fest the widest publicity. It is said that the railroads will give the lowest rate ever given to Wilmington during this week.

CHANLER EXAMINED.

Related Narrations of His Life in Suit to Recover Fortune.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Charlottesville, Va., Oct. 16.—John Armstrong Chanler (or Chaloner as he has called himself in recent years) today gave a narration of the events of his life that occupied the entire day in the hearing of the suit to establish his sanity and recover his fortune which he alleges had been confisticated by the courts of New York. He was still on the stand when court adjourned for the day. His testimony centured about family, friends and litigation growing out of his father's will and the efforts to have him restrained of his liberty. While M. Chanler's testimony was sensational at times and given with dramatic effect it could hardly be said to have realized his forecast of yesterday that it would be the "most sensational thing of his life."

SALE OF CITY BONDS

granted to warrant the payment of a commission or bonus.

Mr. McNair thought that Seasongood & Mayer being bond brokers, could legally receive a commission and asked if their bid specified that they would "purchase" the bonds or "handle" them. It was stated that the negotiations had been carried on by the Finance Committee of the Board of Aldermen, by telegraph and long distance telephone and there did not seem to be any formal bid, at least none other than a verbal agreement by the committee which was later ratified by the two boards, the record being silent as to any specific bid.

Mr. Works was next introduced and stated that he could name 20 cities who had disposed of their bonds under same conditions as now proposed. The bond market simply wouldn't absorb bonds at a low rate of interest and the cities had disposed of them to the best advantage. He didn't regard this $8,000 as a commission. There were certain expenses to be met in connection with the sale and he saw no impropriety or illegality in the city's paying this for necessary legal and other expenses. These expenses are not mentioned in the statute but are implied. He quoted a number of cities, including Charlotte, Greensboro, Chicago and others which had given a similar bonus as necessary expenses for floating bond issues. He said that his firm had already disposed of over half of the Wilmington securities; they had been passed upon by Mr. C. B. Wood, an eminent lawyer of Chicago and he thought the city was in duty bounden to deliver them.

Mr. O'Brien advanced the argument that if the sale of the bonds was illegal in the first place the contract would not be binding. Mr. Tiencken thought that the boards should either be relieved by legislative enactment or by a friendly suit in the courts.

It had occurred to Dr. Bolles that the city might issue the bonds at 5 per cent. to run for eight years and after that to bear 4 1-2 per cent., which would equal the present bid of Seasongood & Mayer. The city could have the bonds engraved at 4 1-2 per cent. and give notes for the other one-half of one per cent for the eight years and then after that take up these notes, paying the required cash therefor. This proposition in the opinion of the City Attorney was not considered legal and Dr. Bolles then suggested that Seasongood & Mayer be delivered the bonds and pay $200,000 therefor and that as soon as the Legislature grants the required power, each Board obligate to pay the $8,000 to the purchasers. The Legislature would meet in January and no one anticipated any trouble in getting the enabling act.

Mr. O'Brien thought that Seasongood & Mayer could not compel the city to deliver the bonds. It was his understanding all along that Seasongood & Mayer were merely to handle the bonds and the $8,000 was to be paid in commissions. Mr. Works then made a proposition to the city to handle the bonds for the city at 4 per cent. commission, but the City Attorney did not think that 4 per cent. would be considered reasonable in court and he doubted if the act allowed in the first place any commissions for the sale. At any rate Seasongood & Mayer would have to account to the city for what they got for the bonds. Some member suggested that this would be easily evaded for that matter; the bonds could be sold in the first place to a member of the firm and then later disposed of to whomever they chose. The City Attorney contended that the sale would have to be bona fide and he maintained his opinion that 4 per cent. would be excessive. It was shown that industrial corporations had paid much larger commissions for floating their securities but Mr. Bellamy insisted that municipal and industrial securities were not on the same footing.

Messrs. Tiencken and Yates finally stated that they were opposed to delivering the bonds without legislative authority, which could be secured as early as January, and they thought nothing would be lost in waiting. The conference then adjourned without accomplishing anything, Mr. Works stating that he would confer with his house over telephone and see if some arrangements could not be made that would be mutually satisfactory.

Wreck on Raleigh & Southport.

Yesterday afternoon's Fayetteville Observer says: "The engine drawing the passenger train which left Raleigh early this morning for Fayetteville turned over just a mile on the other side of Lillington at 8:30 o'clock this morning while running at about 12 miles an hour. Fortunately no one was hurt. A split switch at the Ross Lumber Company's plant is said to have caused the wreck. There were about twenty passengers on the train, none of whom suffered anything more than a slight shaking up."

In an attempt at flight in an aeroplane yesterday M. Mallory, of Chattanooga, Tenn., the inventor fell fifty feet with his machine, but escaped with a few slight bruises. Mallory's aeroplane was partially wrecked. The inventor announced that he would rebuild his machine and try it again. This is the first attempt at aerial flight in the South.

HELPFUL ADVICE

You won't tell your family doctor the whole story about your private illness — you are too modest. You need not be afraid to tell Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., the things you could not explain to the doctor. Your letter will be held in the strictest confidence. From her vast correspondence with sick women during the past thirty years she may have gained the very knowledge that will help your case. Such letters as the following, from grateful women, establish beyond a doubt the power of to conquer all female diseases.

Mrs. Norman R. Barndt, of Allentown, Pa., writes:

"Ever since I was sixteen years of age I had suffered from an organic derangement and female weakness; in consequence I had dreadful headaches and was extremely nervous. My physician said I must go through an operation to get well. A friend told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I took it and wrote you for advice, following your directions carefully, and thanks to you I am today a well woman, and I am telling all my friends of my experience."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration.

BRYAN'S ELECTION SURE

Says Chairman Mack, But the Fight Must be Kept Up—He Claims New York, Indiana and Ohio—Tremendous Popular Vote.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Chicago, Oct. 16.—Chairman Mack left tonight for the east. After registering at his home in Buffalo, Mr. Mack will leave for New York to look over the situation in the East. He said before his departure:

"When I came West some two weeks ago, I realized that the tide had turned toward Democracy and every indication pointed to victory for Democracy in November. The situation is far better now than then, and I return East confident in the election of Mr. Bryan . I have not received one discouraging report. Mr. Bryan will not only receive the majority of the electoral vote, but one of the greatest votes ever given a candidate.

"The fight is won, but we must keep everlastingly at it for the remaining two weeks of the campaign. It is too early to give out figures, and I will not attempt to do so, but I will say now that New York, Ohio and Indiana are Democratic this year and my prediction does not take into consideration a number of other States that will swing from the Republican to the Democratic column two weeks from Tuesday."

NATURE'S LITTLE SHIP.

A Curious Jellyfish Endowed With a Movable Sail.

While man makes the largest ocean vessels, nature makes the smallest. This is a species of jellyfish, found only in tropical seas, which has a sail.

The part of the fish under the water looks like a mass of tangled threads, while the sail is a tough membrane, shaped like a shell and measuring quite five inches and sometimes more across. The fish can raise or lower this sail at will.

Wise sailors let this curiosity of nature alone, for each of the threads composing its body has the power of stinging, the results of which are very painful and often dangerous. This power defends it from porpoises, albatrosses and other natural enemies.

It has no other means of locomotion than its sail, and when seen skimming bravely along the surface of the water it looks more like a child's toy boat than a living creature out in search of food.—London Saturday Review.

Treating Them All Alike.

There was only one thing in the world of which Eben Ransom thoroughly approved; that was hard, steady work. "I hope," said the philanthropic spinster who was spending a fortnight at the Ransom farm, "I do hope, Mr. Ransom, that you treat all your men alike; give them all equal advantages and wages. I find a varying standard, if I may use the expression, makes so much trouble and discontent among laborers in any field of work."

Mr. Ransom surveyed her gravely and nodded assent.

"You're right there, ma'am," he said dryly after a moment. "There is just one rule for the folks that work for me. 'Begin as early and keep it up as late as there's light to go by, and you'll get your one-fifty a day, unless the times are unusual hard, when I make it one-twenty-five.'

"But I tell you, ma'am, you can't get as many fellers to work on an equal basis nowadays as you might think."

Her Modest Request.

When Andrew D. White was minister to Germany he received some queer letters from Americans. Perhaps the funniest of all was a mandatory epistle from an old lady living in the west, who inclosed in her letter four pieces of white linen, each some six inches square. "We are going to have a fair in our church," she wrote, "and I am making an autograph quilt. I want you to get me the autographs of the emperor, the empress and the crown prince and tell them to be very careful not to write too near the edge of the squares, as a seam has to be allowed for putting them together."

The translation is, "The hill on which Tanenuiarangi (the husband of heaven) played his flute to his beloved."—Auckland Letter.

Marital Persiflage.

"I must confess," remarked Mrs. Crabbe, "I don't believe there ever was a really perfect man."

"Well," replied Mr. Crabbe, "I suppose that's because Eve wasn't made first."

"How do you mean?"

"Well, if Eve had been made first she would have bossed the job of making Adam."—Philadelphia Press.

Wealth a Burden.

"Do you find great wealth a burden?"

"Sometimes," answered Mr. Cumrox. "There's never any telling when mother and the girls are going to invest in a touring car or a steam yacht or a foreign nobleman or some such form of worriment and responsibility."

A Yankee Trap.

[Original.]

Ezra Bowman's progenitors had always been English country gentlemen and landed proprietors, therefore when he got involved in a lawsuit with his next door neighbor and lost pretty much everything he had he gathered up the fragments and came to America with a view to continuing the family traditional life. He was impractical and visionary, fancying that in this land of large production he would make a fortune and go back to England to live under his beloved British flag. He had a daughter, Hilma, twenty years old, whom he wished to remain single until this happy return, when he hoped his altered fortunes might enable him to marry her to a younger son of some nobleman.

But Hilma Bowman fell in love with a young farmer, Mark Evans, who owned the adjoining property, and her love was returned. When he proposed she told him frankly of her father's plans for her. Mark proposed to marry her despite the old man's opposition, but Hilma was an English girl, and marriage without her parent's consent was with her entirely out of the question.

Had Ezra Bowman known of the situation he would have forbidden Mark the house. As it was, he took quite a fancy to the young man and made him welcome whenever he came to his farm, and when Mark came it was ostensibly to call on the old man, making it appear that the other members of the family were a secondary consideration. Bowman was very fond of games, and Mark was the only person living near by that he could get to play with him. Chess and checkers were his favorites, and, since in Mark he found a worthy opponent, he was always ready for a game with him.

Now, whatever be the strong points of the British people, they can never cope with their American cousins in shrewdness. Bowman was as stolid as a stone meeting house; Evans was a Yankee with all that name expresses. Bowman would fight for an opinion till every support had been knocked from under it, then fight on with just as much obstinacy as if it had not been disproved. One day Evans told the old man that he was thinking of selling his farm. It was a splendid piece of property, and Bowman would have been delighted to get it if he could have raised the money to buy it. Nevertheless he asked Mark what would be his price for it. Mark replied that he had not made up his mind to sell it, but if he could get $25,000 for it he might let it go. Since this was nearly $25,000 more money than Bowman had the conversation was dropped.

Soon after this Mark took the man whose son-in-law he wished to be over his farm, showing him the land, the dwellings, the barns, the stock, the farming tools, everything. They were all in prime condition, and Bowman's cupidity was excited. It troubled him that he had no money with which to buy such a fine property, and he confessed this to its owner. Mark told him that he would sell the property to him for one-half of what he would sell it to any one else. But as the half was no more to be raised than the whole this did not help matters.

One day when the two were playing checkers Mark said:

"Mr. Bowman, I've made up my mind to go west and shall sell my farm. Now, since you want it I wish you to have it. Make me an offer."

"I couldn't raise $500," said the old man.

They finished the game, Mark beating because his opponent was thinking of the coveted property. Then Mark leaned back in his chair and said:

"I'll tell you what I'll do, Mr. Bowman, with you—mind, with you, not with any one else. I'll sell you my farm on these terms. Let me see. The farm is 180 acres. I will sell it to you with everything on it on the following terms: For the first ten acres you are to pay me at the rate of 1 cent an acre, the second ten acres at the rate of 2 cents an acre, the third ten acres at the rate of 4 cents, the fourth 8 cents, and in this proportion to the end. But I will sell all or none."

There was covetousness in the old man's eye. He looked for some reason why Mark wished to sell so cheap. Surely he had been over the property and had found everything in good condition. He ran up the amount in his head till he had reached the eighth lot of ten acres, which he found to cost only $12.80.

"Are you going to give me the farm?" he asked.

"No; I propose to sell it to you."

Bowman went on figuring.

"I won't leave the offer open," said Mark.

"Done," said Bowman, ceasing to figure, and, taking a ten dollar bill from his pocket, he gave it to Mark to bind the bargain. Mark without wasting any time called for pen and paper and wrote out a bill of sale on the terms proposed. It was executed, and Bowman gave a sigh of relief. He had feared there would be a slip. Then, taking a pencil, he figured up how much he was to pay. When he had finished he turned on the seller with a howl of rage. He had bought the property for exactly $26,214.20.

It was easy enough for Mark Evans to catch the pig headed Britisher in a trap, but to induce him to give his daughter in lieu of taking the farm was another matter. Nevertheless there was no other recourse, and when the girl and all the family begged him to acknowledge himself beaten he finally gave in. Evans released him from his bargain on the wedding day.

NELLIE EDNA CURTIS.

EVIDENCE OF ITS POWERS SHOWING

Stories of Its Great Value and Wounderful Merit are Now Being Heard on Every Hand.

A LOCAL MAN TALKS

A Citizen of Wilmington Tells of His Condition and of the Manner in Which He Was Relieved From Affliction.

The great power for good that is invariably accomplished by the introduction of the Plant Juice remedies in a community is beginning to be felt in Wilmington. Residents of this city have been giving this great medicine a trial and results are developing in the shape of letters and statements from those who have been benefitted by the use of Plant Juice. Among these are many persons who have been patient sufferers with some affliction of long standing and the relief of these cases is a credit to the remedies and furnishes additional proof that they will cure disease.

Among the many citizens of Wilmington who have found relief from sickness and affliction by using Plant Juice is W. R. Hall who lives at 509 South Fourth street, whose experience was as follows:

"I have been a sufferer with stomach trouble for some time and have been unable to obtain any relief. I read an account of one of Col. Dillingham's lectures in the newspapers in which the lecturer discussed catarrh of the stomach, and was impressed with the similarity of the symptoms of the disease described by him with that from which I suffered. I had all of the disagreeable sensations and pains caused by catarrh of the stomach; a rumbling, grumbling sensation; gas on my stomach; a foul taste in my mouth and very little appetite. I bought a bottle of Dillingham's Plant Juice and after taking the third dose these pains and symptoms disappeared. I know that it has benefitted my stomach more than I can tell and that it is an effective medicine in the treatment of diseases of this nature."

Plant Juice has proven itself to possess wonderful power over diseases of the stomach and has probably cured more cases of this disorder than any other remedy ever offered for this trouble. It has cured hundreds of cases of stomach trouble in this State, a statement that is substantiated by Col. Dillingham's record, and is guaranteed to do again, or the purchasers money will be refunded upon the return of the unused portion of the medicine after giving it a trial of one week.

The fame of this remarkable medicine is rapidly spreading over this section of the State and has resulted in an enormous demand for Plant Juice in Wilmington. A complete line of the remedies may be found at R. R. Bellamy's and J. Hicks Bunting's drug stores and at all dealers in Wilmington. Orders sent through the mails are given prompt attention and the Plant Juice remedies sold in this manner are guaranteed exactly as if they had been purchased by a personal call at the drug store.

—Charlotte News: Will Graham, the negro, who is alleged to have made a criminal assault on Miss Pearl Tucker at Concord on Taursday last, was brought here last night to be lodged in Mecklenburg county jail for safe keeping, but both Sheriff Wallace and Sheriff Johnson state that the negro was not received, and it is not known what disposition was made with the prisoner. There is an insistent conviction on the streets that he was placed in jail, and that the knowledge of this is being kept from the public so as not to cause a possible attack on the jail. It was probably thought that there might have been some danger of this on account of the great crowd, which were in the city today attending the circus. The negro was brought here on the Statesville train after dark, and the story leaked out in some way despite the effort to keep it a secret that he was here.

Nothing that I did seemed to give me any relief. When a friend told me about Doan's Kidney Pills, I decided to try them. I procured a box from Robert R. SPIRITS TURPENTINE

—Fairmont has organized a brass band with 19 members.

—Laurinburg Exchange: Mr. E. L. Norton and family, who have been living in the State of Oklahoma during the past twelve months, returned to Laurinburg Thursday and will reside here in the future.

—Clarkton Express: Next Wednesday, the 21st, is the time for the Godwin-Slocomb debate in Clarkton, but as Senator Overman speaks at Elizabethtown and Mr. Cook at Bladenboro on that day, we are afraid the crowd will be rather small.

—Charlotte Chronicle: The Rudisill gold mine property, southwest of the city and the Harty property, on South Tryon street, were sold at public outcry in front of the court house door today at noon, the former tract bringing $30,000, and the Harty property bringing $15,500.

—Duplin Journal: At a meeting yesterday of the directors of the Home Savings Bank, Mr. T. B. Pierce, Jr., who has been assistant cashier, was promoted to chief position to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. W. W. Whitted, who has moved to San Antonio, Texas, where he will deal in realty.

—Lumberton, Oct. 15.—An enthusiastic meeting of Democrats was held in the opera house tonight for the purpose of organizing a Bryan-Kitchin club. Mr. R. D. Caldwell was elected president and Mr. J. A. Sharpe secretary. Stirring speeches were made and much good work is expected to be done by the organization of this club.

—Greenville Reflector: Candidate Taft is coming to North Carolina to make a speech. He is the same old Taft who once said in a speech at Greensboro that it would be a good thing for the Republican party if the Federal offices in this State were filled by Democrats. There would not even be any Republican party in North Carolina if it was not for the offices they get a chance at.

—News and Observer: Mr. William Boylan made best time in the spirited automobile race on the Fair grounds track yesterday afternoon and captured the handsome silver cup. He raced against time as all did and made a record of 65 miles an hour in a three mile lap. Owing to the curves and grades there were times when he ran up a speed of over 70 miles an hour.

—Newton Enterprise: The body of F. Kilkuchi, who was killed here last Sunday was buried in Eastview Cemetery Thursday at 1 o'clock. There was a short service at the grave by a minister of one of our churches. The hair was cut from the head and sent to the man's family in Japan, where burial services, according to the customs of that country will be observed.

—Salisbury Exchange: On Saturday, Oct. 24, there will be a great Democratic rally at Maxton. Senator Lee Overman will be the principal speaker and a great time is planned. A great parade is to take place, and every person having a horse is invited to be present and join in the parade. Mr. F. L. Black is chief marshal, and under his management the affair is bound to be a great success. Let everybody go.

—Tarboro Southerner: Last night, Mrs. Joe Savage, while her husband was at the theatre managing the scenery heard some one at the window blinds. She seized a pistol, opened the door and fired twice and then fell in a faint on the walk way. The shots promptly attracted attention and a crowd soon assembled. Mrs. Savage soon revived, but was very nervous. She is not sure that she saw anyone, but postive about the rattling of the blinds.

—Columbia, S. C., Oct. 15.—J. Z. Wooten, a white farmer, who exhibited his deformed idiot step-daughter at the State fair here fall without success, the crowd refusing to patronize such an exhibition, was landed in the Lexington jail today charged with outrage on the child. The warrant was sworn out by an uncle of the child, on information furnished by its mother. Indignation is intense against Wooten, but so far there have been no threats of lynching.

—Dunn, N. C., Oct. 15.—On Friday night Congressman Ed. W. Pou and ex-Sheriff J. T. Elington, of Johnston, will address the Democrats of Dunn and a Bryan-Kitchin club will be organized. Saturday they will speak at Coats, where a big rally will be held. On the 23rd inst., there will be a big sale of lots by the Greensboro Auction and Realty Company. On same date Governor Glenn will speak here at a big rall. The Dunn brass band will furnish the music for the occasion.

—Pender Chronicle: Native citizens of Pender do not take much stock in the Republican party. As an evidence of this, note the make up of the Republican county ticket. The candidate for Register of Deeds is from Sampson, one of the candidates for commissioner from Duplin, the nominee for Sheriff (who is not a Republican) from Onslow, and as they did not have enough material in their own ranks to fill the offices, took another Democrat from Holly for Commissioner. This so-called Republican Convention was made up almost entirely of ex-Populists, there being only one old issue Republican in the crowd.

—Goldsboro, N. C., Oct. 15.—The old-time Democratic spirit, that has never known defeat in Wayne county, prevailed and was jubilant at the opening of the county canvass today at Ebenezer, in Fork township, where the candidates were greeted by a large crowd of the voters of that township and section and in addition to very excellent speeches from several of the county candidates, they had the rare opportunity of hearing United States Senator Overman, and of hearing him at his best, on both State and National issues in a speech that has seldom been equaled, and never surpassed.

Raleigh Citizens Held Spellbound

BY THE GREAT ANDES.

A Raleigh paper has this to say about Mr. Andes: "To see thousands of people flock, night after night for ten days, to see and hear a man talk is an unusual thing. And to see thousands stand and listen to this man, as if spellbound, has never been witnessed in Raleigh. Andes is a remarkable man, and there is hardly a person in the city but what has taken the advantage to see him. He came to this city for the purpose of delivering ten of his now famous lectures on good health. Last evening, when he finished his last talk, he was beseiged on all sides with people eager to shake his hand, and to tell him of the good they had derived from his coming to the city, and wish him God speed and success in his good work for suffering humanity.

The headquarters of Mr. Andes has been like a bargain day in a big department store ever since he opened them, at O. G. King Drug Store. People stand in line waiting their turn to have a word with Mr. Andes or his assistants. The sale of the Andes Great Prescription and Oil has never been equalled by any medicine in the history of Raleigh. Mail orders pour into the store from all parts of the State, with instructions to rush their medicines by first express. So many persons who have been benefited and cured by the use of these Medicines are giving in thir statements unsolicited. It has been impossible to publish them all.

Mrs. Frank W. Prather, of 25 Hayti street, said herself and husband was living in New York City when she took ill with Stomach Trouble and weakness. She had been down for three months when her mother sent her a circular telling of Andes Great Medicines. Her husband sent to the labratory of Mr. Andes; purchased three bottles of the great Prescription; used them and was entirely cured.

Mr. N. L. Todd, of 316 S. Person street, also states for past several months he suffered great deal with his back and kidney trouble. Used medicines of different kinds but they done him no good. By the time he had finished one bottle of Andes Great Prescription he felt so much better and told his neighbors what wonderful good 'Medicine Andes Great Prescription was.

We have the agency for Andes Great Medicines and they are giving satisfaction.

NEGRO SUES RINGLING BROS

Because of Having to Move From White People's Seats.

(Special to The Observer.)

Winston-Salem, Oct. 15.—J. S. Fitts, a negro lawyer of this city, had a summons served on one of the owners of Ringling Bros.' circus yesterday afternoon in a suit for $5,000 damages for alleged breach of contract. In a statement this afternoon, Fitts said in part:

"I walked up to the ticket seller and asked for five tickets. He told me they would cost $1 each. I told him that I would take five and handed him five $1 bills and he gave me the tickets. I gave four of the tickets to my wife, who wanted to take three friends to the circus. They went ahead of me. I saw my wife and her friends sitting in a section that had been reserved for white people. I took my seat with them. I had no idea that the man was selling me tickets to seats that had been reserved for white people. I had no desire to go where I ought not to be and where the white people of the city would not want me to be. I always try to stay in my place and give offense to none. One of the showmen came and said we would have to get up. I showed him my tickets and he said on account of my color I could not remain there and said he would give me another seat or refund the money paid for the tickets. The man at the door gave me my money back. I was not there of my own desire. The part that hurt me was their making me move after they had sold me the tickets for those seats. The humiliation was very painful to me and to those with me."

The summons notifies the defendant to appear at the Forsyth County Superior Court, December term.

She Likes Good Things.

Mrs. Chas. E. Smith of West Franklin Maine, says: "I like good things and have adopted Dr. King's New Life Pills as our family laxative medicine, because they are good and do their work without making a fuss about it." These painless purifiers sold at R. R. Bellamy's drug store. 25c.

THE COTTON MARKET.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, Oct. 16.—The cotton market was decidedly more active and firmer today with the close very steady at a net advance of 10 to 14 points. Sales were 200,000. The market opened steady at unchanged prices to a decline of 2 points and showed some irregularity at the start, owing to a few October notices, good weather in the South, a continued heavy movement and southern selling of the late months. But cables were better than due; the October notices were soon absorbed; trade accounts continued encouraging except from Manchester, and during the middle session the market turned decidedly firmer on undoing hedges, covering and straddle-buying against sales in other markets. At the high point October touched 9.10 and January 8.71 or 44 to 47 points above the low level of the month. The close was within a point or two of the best. Aside from the talk of a better trade demand there seemed to be nothing fresh in the day's news to explain the increased buying power. Southern spot markets were unchanged to 1-8c higher.

Receipts at the ports today were 71,814 bales, against 60,740 last week and 44,040 last year; for the week 360,000, against 340,922 last week and 275,752 last year; at New Orleans 12,043, against 3,196 last year and at Houston 19,516, against 11,327 last year.

Spot closed quiet 10 points up; middling 9.30; middling gulf 9.55; sales none.

Futues opened steady and closed very steady.

DRY GOODS MARKET.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, Oct. 16.—The market for cotton goods is firm and trading is going on in a very satisfactory way. Heavy cottons are being bought more freely and crashes and towelling have been advanced for spring delivery 1-4c a yard. Cotton yarns are in wider request. Carpet wools are being taken in more freely, but prices are still very low. Jobbers are beginning to get an increase of road orders from retailers.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, Oct. 16.—The strength of individual stocks affected the general list by sympathy today. The causes of the strength in the influental stocks were lost in conjecture, but the manner in which they were absorbed and the evidence of scanty market supplies were accepted as evidence of accummulation. Union Pacific and St. Paul were the conspicuous instances. Satisfaction was manifest over the preliminary estimates of the week's currency movement which indicated that the depletion of bank reserves by the flow to the interior has been arrested. The outgo for the week seems to have been less than $1,000,000 and the exchange in the cash items of the banks on call accounts little more than nominal. There was some revival of uneasiness abroad over the situation in the Balkans, the truculent attitude of Bulgaria being the assigned reason. There was some appearance of profit-taking sales in the general list under cover of the strength in the two leaders and, in fact, net changes at the end of the day showed the declines well represented. The activity in Union Pacific convertibles stirred up some movement in other bonds of that class.

The bond division was active and firm. Total sales, par value, were $4,944,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call. Total sales today were 561,100 shares.

FINANCIAL MARKET.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, Oct. 16.—Money on call steady 1 1-2 @ 2 per cent., ruling rate and closing bid 1 1-2, offered at 1 3-4. Time loans very dull and firm; sixty days 2 3-4 to 3 per cent., and ninety days 3 1-4 to 3 1-2 per cent., six months 3 1-4 @ 3 1-2 per cent. Prime mercantile paper 4 @ 4 1-2 per cent. Sterling exchange steady with actual business in bankers bills at 4.8490 @ 4.85 for sixty day bills and at 4.8655 for demand. Commercial bills 4.84 1-2 @ 5-8. Bar silver 51 1-2. Mexican dollars 45.

Dun & Co's Trade Review.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, Oct. 16.—R. G. Dun & Co's Weekly Review of Trade tomorrow will say:

Moderate improvement is indicated in reports of current trade from most sections of the country, with pronounced confidence regarding the future.

Although many large undertakings are held back in the iron and steel industry pending the result of the election, numerous small contracts are being placed, and specifications on old orders involve a considerable tonnage. Progress is slow but on whole there is a distinct improvement each week, export business continuing liberal. Improvements is pronounced in the primary market for cotton goods, buyers exhibiting more interest, and it is generally believed that prices cannot be expected to go any lower. While it is not the season for extensive activity among jobbers, there is a good volume of filling in orders, and the statistical position is firmly held by the curtailment of spinning, which is still considerable. Export sales are larger, although most bids from China are still below the view of makers.

Mrs. Hearst Makes a Scene, Declaring Her Husband Not on Train. Found in Toilet Room—Counter Statement.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 16.—After a dramatic scene on Union Pacific train No. 2, last night, William Randolph Hearst, the millionaire editor was served with papers notifying him that suit for $600,000 had been brought against him for slander and libel by Governor Charles N. Haskell, of Oklahoma, in the Douglas county, Nebraska district court.

The summons was served by Deputy Sheriff Stewart, for Smyth and Smith, of Omaha, who are Governor Haskell's attorneys in the damage suit.

The suit was filed in the District Court at 10 o'clock last night after which the papers were immediately withdrawn. It was known that Mr. Hearst would pass through Omaha last night on his way from Seattle to New York.

"Union Pacific train No. 2, arrived at 11:25 o'clock. Deputy Sheriff Stewart was on hand with orders to serve the summons. He knocked on the door of Mr. Hearst's stateroom. Mrs. Hearst stated that her husband was not in the room, but had gone to the station to send a telegram. The deputy sheriff demanded admittance in the name of the law, threatening to break down the door.

Mrs. Hearst, on the inside screamed out that she was alone and would admit no man and the deputy proceeded to carry out his threat. Using his shoulders as a battering ram, he crashed through the door and was met by Mrs. Hearst, partially disrobed, apparently on the verge of hysteria. She rushed screaming through the door out in the aisle. Deputy Sheriff Stewart started to kick in the door of the toilet room adjoining.

Then Mr. Hearst, trembling and excited, emerged and accepted the papers.

To a reporter Mr. Hearst said that the summons was entirely unexpected. He said he refused admittance to the officers because he and his wife were retiring for the night. "I have no objections to being served with these papers," he said. "Frankly I don't believe this case will ever come to a trial. When Governor Haskell said not very long ago that his only reason for not bringing action against me was his lack of funds, I offered to donate the necessary amount from my own pocket, and this offer still holds good."

Chicago, Oct. 16.—Upon his arrival in Chicago today Mr. Hearst dictated an additional statement in which he said the deputy sheriff did not say he was an officer of the law or that he had a summons or legal paper of any kind to serve.

"I was in the bath room at the time," he continued, "not avoiding any one or suspecting any one. Some one knocked at the door and Mrs. Hearst went to the door. She thought the man was a drunken ruffian and declined to let him in. He broke the door. I stepped out and asked what the trouble was all about and the man said he had a summons in a civil suit to serve. Of course his action was highhanded and contrary to law, but I accepted the summons notwithstanding and I invite Mr. Haskell's suit immediately, before election.

"I am going to New York late today and will pass through Indiana. If Mr. Taggart has any suit to bring, I will be pleased to accept his service."

Mr. Hearst also declared that he was willing to accept service from Senator Bailey and Mr. Bryan, asking only that suits be brought at once in order that the facts may be ascertained. He asserted that if Mr. Haskell desired to bring a criminal action he would welcome it.

Guthrie, Okla., Oct. 16.—On his return here today from Ohio, Governor Haskell denied receiving word of any kind from Mr. Hearst and he branded as false the latter's statement that he had sent him a letter agreeing to pay expenses of posecution and to accept service by mail.

"When I found that Hearst had left his spectacular caravan on the Pacific coast and was traveling eastward incognito," he continued, "I immediately guarded every trunk line gateway—St. Paul, Omaha, Kansas City, Fort Worth and Houston—determined that he should not escape me."

DENVER'S OVATION TO W. J. BRYAN

He Delivered a Keynote Speech on The Text "Let There Be Light".

GREETED WITH ENTHUSIASM

Democratic Clubs From All Parts of Colorado Join in the Line of March — Unexpected Crowds Greeted Him.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Denver, Colo., Oct. 16.—William J. Bryan was the guest of Denver for several hours tonight. In spite of a threatening storm, accentuated by fitful rainfall, great crowds lined the streets through which the candidate rode to the auditorium where he delivered a speech. All along the line of march he was received with enthusiastic acclaim. More than two score marching clubs from all parts of Colorado followed the candidate, and as he passed the glow of red fire added brilliancy to the occasion.

Mr. Bryan halted the parade thrice to address crowds stationed at points along the line of march. It required three quarters of an hour to reach the auditorium in which was assembled a great multitude. A feature of the parade was an effigy of an elephant representing the Republican party lying dead from the shafts of Democratic assaults. Each spear was labeled with some Democratic argument such as "anti-publicity," "Ananias Club," "Tariff Revision," etc. Mr. Bryan returned to Omaha late tonight.

Unexpected crowds in many Nebraska and Colorado towns and cities greeted Mr. Bryan on his trip from Plattsmouth to Denver. No speeches had been scheduled, but hardly had he awakened, however, before there was a crowd at the train demanding that he give them a short talk. From that time until he reached Denver tonight every stop found a crowd collected, and to each a speech was made.

The publication of campaign contributions gave Mr. Bryan a text at many of these places. He called on the Republican party to be honest with the people.

There were short stays at Wray, Yuma, Akron, Brush, Fort Morgan, Wiggins and Barr.

At the first two places no speeches were made Mr. Bryan shaking hands with the people. The heartiness of the Western handshake had told on Mr. Bryan and tonight his hands are sore and swollen.

U. C. D. AT GOLDSBORO

Twelfth Annual Convention Came to Close Last Evening.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Goldsboro, N. C., Oct. 16.—The 12th annual convention of the North Carolina Division, United Daughters of the Confederacy, came to a close tonight after delightful sessions extending over a period of three days during which the ladies of Goldsboro, the various organizations and the veterans vied with one another in showing courtesies upon the visitors.

The annual election of officers resulted as follows: President, Mrs. I. W. Faison, Charlotte; first vice president, Miss Sue Collier, Goldsboro; second vice president, Mrs. M. S. Willard, Wilmington; third vice president, Mrs. Leah Jones Stevens, Newbern; recording secretary, Mrs. F. M. Williams, Newton; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Gordon Finger, Charlotte; treasurer, Mrs. Eugene Little, Wadesboro; registrar, Mrs. Lee Heartt, Raleigh; historian, Miss Rebecca Cameron, Hillsboro; assistant historian, Mrs. W. O. Shannon, Henderson; recorder of crosses, Mrs. T. L. Craig, Gastonia; chaplain, Mrs. James Kenan, Wallace.

Features of the convention were the unveiling of handsome portraits of General Robert Ransom, Colonel S. McD. Tate and Captain John Phifer Young, the two first painted by Mrs. Marshall Williams, of Faison, and the latter by Miss Mattie Dowd, of Charlotte, delightful entertainments by Mrs. George Royall, Dr. and Mrs. Robinson, the Woman's Club, Chamber of Commerce, Veterans, Elks and other organizations. The portraits will be placed in the Confederate museum at Richmond. A good sum was contributed to the Arlington Confederate monument fund, a pledge was made to the Stonewall Jackson Training School and it was decided to increase the fund so as to permit three instead of two scholarships in the State Normal.

DESTRUCTIVE FOREST FIRES.

Several Michigan Towns Destroyed and Many Lives Lost.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Alpena Mich., Oct. 16.—Every report received tonight from the fire-swept county to the North of this city, increased the extent and gravity of the fire situation and the death list which started today with the cremating of fifteen people in the Metz relief train, is steadily growing. Presque Isle and Cheboygan counties are all aflame and the 75 miles between this city and the city of Cheboygan is reported to be almost a solid mass of fire. Alpena county is ablaze in every direction. Reports of fatalities are coming from many places, but it has been impossible as yet to compile anything like an authentic list of the fire victims in the burned district. From Metz township tonight the cremation is reported of Henry Kemps, his wife and two children in their farm house, with a third child missing and probably burned to death in the fields. Bolton, South Rogers and Metz are among the destroyed villages.

BIG RECEPTION TO BRYAN

To Be Given on His Visit to New York City—Republicans Levying Campaign Contributions on Wall Street—Trusts.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, October 16.—A big reception for W. J. Bryan when he comes to the city October 26th is being arranged by the National Democratic Club. It is planned to hold the reception at the club house in Fifth Avenue at 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon and then at 6:30 o'clock have Mr. Bryan as a guest of honor at a dinner to which about 100 persons will be invited. Later the dinner guests will act as escorts to the candidate in a ride down Fifth avenue to Madison Square Garden where Mr. Bryan is to deliver an address. Fifth Avenue from the club house to Madison Square will be lighted with flaming torches.

Nathan Straus, chairman of the Democratic Business Men's League, of New York, said today that he had been reliably informed that within the last few days many Republicans in Wall Street had contributed $500 to the Republican national campaign fund. He said that this had been done under direct orders of some of the most prominent Republicans. Speaking of the financial conditions in the country, Mr. Straus said:

"The panic which began last Fall is the greatest panic the world has ever known. That is a strong statement, but I mean it. We are not over it yet. Politics was the cause of this panic."

Turning to Vice Chairman Hudspeth, Mr. Straus continued: "All big legislation in this country has been dominated by trusts and corporations in the interest of the Republican party. Is not that so?"

Mr. Hudspeth said it was true of New Jersey to his personal knowledge.

George R. Sheldon, treasurer of the Republican national committee said tonight in reply to the statement made by Nathan Straus at Democratic headquarters that many Republicans in Wall street had been required to give up $500 each to the Republican campaign fund:

"That statement, like all other statements made during the campaign referring to contributors, is absolutely and unqualifiedly false."

ELOPED TO PARIS.

North Carolina Couple on Long Journey to Get Married.

(By Cable to the Morning Star.)

Paris, Oct. 16.—Miss Florence Morgan, the daughter of G. L. Morgan, an American resident of Florence, eloped from that city with an American named Craig, ariving here today. Miss Morgan was accompanied also by a lady whose name could not be ascertained. Mr. Morgan attempted to stop the runaways, under the impression that they were proceeding to Paris to be married. The party however, left here soon after their arrival for London.

Asheville, N. C., Oct. 16.—The Morgan-Craig elopement is the culmination of a romance which started in this city last Summer when T. P. Craig met Miss Fayetta Morgan at a Young Womans Christian Association convention at Kenilworth Inn.

Both parties had spent their childhood in Marion, but had not seen each other for eight years prior to last Summer, Craig having removed to New Orleans.

Miss Morgan's parents, it is said, were opposed to Craig and it was on his account that Miss Morgan was sent to Rome to study art. Mr. Morgan left for Europe a short time ago in hope of preventing the marriage.

ROOSBVELT TO VISIT ENGLAND.

Will Deliver Romanes Lecture at Oxford University.

(By Cable to the Morning Star.)

London, Oct. 16.—The Times is informed that President Roosevelt will visit England after his African trip, early in 1910. He will deliver the Romanes lecture at Oxford, and, on the occasion of the University commemoration, will receive the honorary degree of D. L. C., which Oxford already has bestowed upon Emperor William.

Washington, Oct. 16.—The report from London as to President Roosevelt's following upon his trip to Africa after leaving the White House is substantially true. This elaboraton of the President's plans, it was admitted at the White House tonight, has been in process of arrangement all along but had not reached a stage of completion desirable for publicity until Wednesday, on which day Lord North Cliffe, part owner of the London Times, was the President's guest at lunch. It was on this occasion that the President made known his intention to visit London and Paris on his return trip from the African hunting grounds, accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt, who is to join him at Khartoum on the upper Nile.

West Point is aflutter with excitement over the annual game of the cadets with Yale at West Point today. Extra stands have been put up and special trains will bring enthusiasts from New York city and surrounding towns.

GREENSBORO CENTENNIAL

Programme Closed With a Splendid Iswolsky in Paris.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Greensboro, N. C., Oct. 16.—This was the last day of Greensboro's centennial celebration and it is estimated that 50,000 people saw the street parade, which was the principal event of the day. Four hundred confederate veterans headed the parade, followed by several companies of United States infantry and cavalry, floats representing commercial and manufacturing industries, fraternal organizations and methods and customs of a hundred years ago. After the parade, the infantry and cavalry companies gave drills in the auditorium where more than 10,000 people witnessed them. An All-Star concert tonight brought the celebration to a close.

After an absence of four years from the ring "Kid" McCoy re-appeared in New York last night at the National Club and easily defeated Jim Stewart, of Brooklyn, in a six round bout McCoy's last ring match was a twenty round decision over Jack Sullivan, at Los Angeles, on October 1904. McCoy was greeted with cheers. Stewart seemed to be terrified from the outset of the bout and a hard left smash on the chin, which sent him to the floor in the opening round, took all the seam out of him.
